SUMMARY

Objective

The Capital Therapy Project embodies a movement to bring compassionate, respectful, and results-oriented therapy to more of DC. It is an innovative low-fee psychodynamic therapy training institute located in downtown Washington DC. Developed in partnership with a DC private practice celebrating 16 years of serving clients, it is the culmination of years of planning and dreaming.

Psychodynamic principles are emphasized in all aspects of the Project's clinical services including individual psychotherapy, career counseling, and working with DC's LGBTQ community.

Externship Training:

The Capital Therapy Project Externship program is designed to provide an intensive clinical experience and highly individualized training rarely available in other training settings.

The Externship is an unpaid 12-month training opportunity that emphasizes extensive use of technological and supervisory resources. Our aim is to train tomorrow's psychologists to excel as clinicians and critical thinkers in the evolving landscape of psychodynamic therapy in the digital age.

Requirements For Consideration:

1. Applicants must be doctoral students in APA-accredited Counseling Psychology or Clinical Psychology training programs.
2. All applicants must have completed a minimum of 3 clinical practica.
3. Completion of three (3) years of your doctoral degree program by the commencement of the Externship program.

Desirable Qualifications

- Interest in psychodynamic theories and practice.
- Interest in gay, lesbian, bisexual and/or transgendered clients.
- Interest in and experience with vocational psychology.

TRAINING STRUCTURE

The Training Experience Includes:

1. The total weekly commitment for Externs is 14-16 hours per week
2. Externs spend 9-11 hours per week engaged in direct clinical service
3. The Capital Therapy Project provides intensive supervision in individual, career, and LGBTQ counseling.
4. Attending seminars conducted by the practice's Postdoctoral Fellows throughout the year.

All Externs Are Expected To:

- Collaborate with and directly provide psychotherapy services to individuals;
- Video record each individual therapy session;
- Provide early morning (e.g., 8am start time) and/or late evening psychotherapy sessions (e.g., 7pm finish time) for 1 day a week, at minimum;
- Devote one hour a week to interpersonal/relational reading, preparing case presentation paper, and/or a practice innovation project; and
- Be available Wednesdays from 9am to 3pm, which is time dedicated to staff meetings, case conferences, seminars and supervision.

GOALS

Psychotherapy

Externs will develop competence and confidence in practicing psychotherapy in a private practice setting. This includes:

- developing and improving case conceptualization skills,
- gaining comfort with implementing interventions based in the case conceptualization, and
- working with clients to monitor and use the therapeutic relationship in treatment.

Supervision

Externs will develop skills in using supervisory experiences to further explore their clinical experiences and gain comfort in questioning and exploring their contributions to the therapeutic relationship.

SUPERVISION AND PROFESSIONAL DEVELOPMENT

Individual Supervision

Externs receive 1 hour of individual supervision per week from the primary supervisor, a psychology Postdoctoral Fellow, who is supervised by a psychologist licensed in the District of Columbia.

Group Supervision

Externs receive 1 hour of group supervision from one or more staff members. This supervision provides a space to explore clinical and professional issues in a group setting.

Interpersonal Case Conference

Externs will attend a weekly case conference where they will be able to present/follow a case weekly with attention paid to the vicissitudes of the therapeutic relationship, including how interventions and transference/countertransference shape the ongoing interactions between therapist and patient.

Professional Development

Externs will attend a series of seminars throughout the year conducted by the Fellows in collaboration with practice staff. Topics of discussion include clinical and professional development, and assisting with ongoing practice-wide clinical innovation/research or outreach projects.
